

Dear Valued Customer

We are pleased to announce that SureWerx has acquired FALL SAFE®.

Based in Porto, Portugal, FALL SAFE® is a global leader of critical-use PPE, specializing in fall protection equipment and systems. Since 2003, the company has been recognized as a category leader and innovator of highly technical and functional safety products for diverse end markets. FALL SAFE® designs and manufactures a wide variety of fall protection safety products including harnesses, self retracting lifelines (SRL's), descenders, belts, anchors, ropes, lifelines as well as other technical fall protection products including various safety accessories. FALL SAFE® continues to lead through innovation, with the sole purpose of keeping workers safe and protecting the lives of countless professionals working at heights around the globe. As part of the transaction, FALL SAFE® TRAINING which is a fully certified training facility helps to train workers at heights around the globe.

“Adding FALL SAFE to our growing, world-class portfolio of SureWerx brands moves us further toward our goal of becoming the global leader in Safety and Productivity,” said SureWerx CEO Chris Baby. “FALL SAFE brings us one step closer to building a robust and innovative Fall Protection portfolio as part of the SureWerx platform. FALL SAFE’s expertise in the most technical and demanding portion of the Fall Protection market around the globe sets them apart from their competition. We are thrilled to be adding this highly respected brand to our market-leading portfolio of best-in-class safety products.”

“FALL SAFE has always focused on delivering innovative, performance-driven products and solutions to end users through its distribution partners,” said FALL SAFE Founders, Jan and Paula Ekman. “We are thrilled to be partnering with SureWerx, a company that holds the same values and commitment to worker safety as FALL SAFE. Their reach into the global industrial markets across multiple channels will undoubtedly accelerate growth of the FALL SAFE brand. We are in good hands - the future for FALL SAFE has never been brighter!”

What does this mean for you, our SureWerx customer?

Fall Safe will continue to operate as a stand-alone company within the SureWerx portfolio and servicing the European market. In the longer term, we will be meeting with the Fall Safe team to determine an integration strategy that will see continued development of the fall protection portfolio at SureWerx. For our North American customers, Fall Safe products will be available in the US & Canada after the completion of ANSI & CSA testing. Although timing of product availability is currently unknown, once we have more information, we will send you an updated communication with product information, availability and ordering instructions. We are very excited in our efforts to grow our Fall Protection line and providing you, our SureWerx customers access to more products and brands. Stay tuned for updates as we work through the testing process.
